

CHAIN OF COMMAND

ROMANIA 1941

THE INFANTRY PLATOON

The Romanian Infantry Platoon is large in terms of manpower but woefully underequipped for modern warfare, relying on captured enemy equipment for SMGs and anti-tank weapons. Falling naturally into the Allied camp, as they had been in the Great War, the Romanians found that an accident of geography pushed them into the Axis, especially once the Soviets invaded and seized Basarabia in 1939.

Romanian infantry count as Regular or Green.

ROMANIAN NATIONAL CHARACTERISTICS

BASARABIA E ROMÂNIA!

The Romanians viewed the restoration of the province of Basarabia, taken from them by the Soviet Union in 1940, as a Holy Crusade and the conquest of the territory of Transnistria, including the port of Odessa, as the creating of a România Mare: a Greater Romania. During fighting in these regions the Romanians will add +2 to their Force Morale roll. When outside these areas they were less enthusiastic and will apply a -2 to the roll.

LEAD BY EXAMPLE

With a predominantly peasant soldiery and a small middle class from which to draw their junior officers, the Romanians were hindered by their lack of leadership and initiative within their corps of NCOs. To a degree this was a product of a long term military relationship with France where the system was dominated by an over-reliance on the junior officers making tactical decisions. To reflect this doctrinal embracement of the importance of central command, the Romanian Sergeant Major is rated as a Junior Leader, although he is able to influence any troops within the Platoon.

begins. If a Sapper Tank Defence Team is select from List Two this will be made up of three men, each with a single molotov cocktail and will operate as a Tank Hunter Team.

How the weapon works is detailed in Section 9.3.4, Tank Hunters.

MOTORCYCLE RECONNAISSANCE TEAM

The Romanians lack of armoured cars meant they relied heavily on motorcycles for reconnaissance duties, encouraging men owning such vehicles to serve with them. The reconnaissance Team here is made up of three men crewing a single ZB M1937 LMG with a Caporal Junior Leader. They are equipped with three motorcycles. Motorcycles operate as wheeled vehicles but re-roll any 1's rolled.

CAPTAIN PRIEST

With the rank and file made up of largely simple peasant folk, the presence of a Priest at the front could have a significant effect on the force morale. A force selecting a Captain Priest as a support option will be blessed before going into action and will add +1 to its Force Morale roll.

60MM MORTAR TEAM

The 60mm Brandt mortar has both smoke and H.E. rounds. It has a minimum range of 24" and no maximum range limit. At shorter ranges the crew can use their rifles.
